

Privacy Policy

ASKA Insurances strives to provide high-quality customer care and insurance products, while protecting the confidentiality and security of its customers' information.

Personal information

We obtain personal information necessary to run our business, such as name, ID, address, and telephone number.

ASKA Insurances does not disclose any personal information about you to unaffiliated companies or organizations.

Previous Clients

In case your relationship with us ends, your personal information will continue to be protected as required by law and in accordance with our privacy policies.

Protection of your personal information

We limit access to your information to those employees and consultants who need it to provide requested insurance products and services or process your claim, or when required to comply with local laws and regulations. When we work with consultants and / or other third parties, we protect your personal information, as required by law, with a confidentiality agreement that commits those consultants and / or other third parties to abide by our standards and to keep any information provided confidential. In addition, we have established physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards to protect such information.

ASKA Insurances will not disclose your information, unless you have authorized us in writing, or as permitted by applicable laws and regulations.

At ASKA Insurances we keep our records safe. We keep your information correctly, and we will be happy to make appropriate changes when you notify us. Please review if the information obtained and provided by third parties such as your Insurance Broker is accurate and notify us directly if you believe that the information we have received from them is wrong.
